PRESS RELEASE

MIAMI BEACH | NOVEMBER 1 | 2016

Film: Art Basel announces details of its 2016 Film program in Miami Beach

From November 30 through December 4, 2016, Art Basel will present a premier program of over 50 film and video works by some of today's most exciting artists from North and South America, Europe, Asia and Africa. Selected from the show's participating galleries by David Gryn, Director of Daata Editions and Artprojx, this year's program will include 'Muxima', the first film by Chilean-born artist Alfredo Jaar, as well as a silent film about music by Christian Marclay and a new work by Liliana Porter. The program will also include short films by Edgardo Aragón, Ain Bailey and Sonia Boyce, Cabelo, Kudzanai Chiurai, Martin Creed, Keren Cytter, Kim Gordon, Rodney Graham, György Kovásznai, Rashid Johnson, Li Daiguo, Li Shurui, Jillian Mayer, Ana Mendieta, Haroon Mirza, Ara Peterson, Alex Prager, Anri Sala, Wilhelm Sasnal, Tromarama and Samson Young among many others. Screenings will take place both in SoundScape Park on the 7,000 square-foot outdoor projection wall of the New World Center, as well as on dedicated touchscreen monitors within the Film Library at Art Basel's show in the Miami Beach Convention Center. In addition, Marian Masone, New York based film consultant and strategist, has selected 'Maurizio Cattelan: Be Right Back' (2016) directed by Maura Axelrod, for a special screening at the Colony Theatre on Friday, December 2.

For her second year as Art Basel film curator, Marian Masone has selected 'Maurizio Cattelan: Be Right Back' (2016) by Maura Axelrod, an original and highly entertaining portrait of the Italian artist Maurizio Cattelan (b. 1960). The film presents a profile of the provocative and elusive art-world upstart, who launched his career with playful and subversive works that mocked the artistic establishment. The screening will take place at the Colony Theatre at 8.30pm on Friday, December 2. Entry is free, but seating is limited.

Returning for his sixth year, curator David Gryn presents several works that engage with music, including a set of 28 short films screened under the title 'Best Dressed Chicken in Town' after a classic 1970s reggae song by Jamaican singer Doctor Alimantado. The lineup focuses on a selection of international artists who engage with music in a multitude of ways. A 'Double Bill' program will pair two film works that share similar themes or approaches to an intense musical score: Rita Ackermann (b. 1968) and Christian Marclay (b. 1955) on Wednesday, and Liliana Porter (b. 1941) and Alfredo Jaar (b. 1956) on Friday. In 'Mixed Reviews (American Sign Language)' (1999/2001) Marclay, who was recently awarded San Francisco Museum of Modern Art's annual Contemporary Vision Award, reconstructs texts describing musical performances through a deaf actor's translation into American Sign Language. In 'Movement as Monument' (2011), Rita Ackermann digitally collages disparate audio and video source materials. Jaar's 'Muxima' (2005) is a cinematic elegy dedicated to the people of Angola, structured around interpretations of a local folk song to explore six aspects of Angola's history: colonization, Communism, the 30-year civil war, the AIDS epidemic, poverty and challenges presented by the oil industry. Porter also responds to contemporary issues with the 2016 work 'Actualidades / Breaking News', which re-enacts newspaper stories through model trains and vintage toys.

The late screening on Thursday, December 1 will feature works by sound artist and DJ Ain Bailey (b. 1963), with Sonia Boyce (b.1962), along with pieces by Anna Grenman (b. 1984), Rashid Johnson (b. 1977), Alex Prager (b. 1979) and Penny Siopis (b. 1953). The final presentation on Saturday, December 3 will include three early films by Polish artist Wilhelm Sasnal (b. 1972), in which he added visual accompaniment to enhance the aural experience, along with a recent work, in which the score directly drives the narrative, replacing spoken words.

Every evening, directly preceding the Film program, sound works by Ain Bailey, Zoë Buckman, A.K. Burns, Jonathan Montague, Molly Palmer and Susannah Stark will be presented on the state-of-the-art surround system in SoundScape Park. In conjunction with the outdoor film screenings, over 50 works have been selected to be shown exclusively within Art Basel's designated Film Library at the Miami Beach Convention Center.

On Sunday, December 4 at 2pm, Art Basel's Salon program will feature 'The Artist as Composer', a talk between the artists Rachel Mason, Molly Palmer and Susannah Stark, and Kathryn Mikesell, Founder of The Fountainhead Residency and Studios in Miami. The talk will be moderated by William J. Simmons, Lecturer in Art History, City College of New York, New York, with an introduction by Film curator David Gryn. Art Basel entry tickets include admission to Salon.

Running Time 120'; curated by David Gryn

With a title borrowed from a classic 1970s reggae song by Jamaican singer Doctor Alimantado, this year's short film program focuses on a selection of international artists who engage with music in a multitude of ways. All the films in this varied and exciting program demonstrate the power of music to attract an audience, keep it engaged, elicit suspense and tug at the heartstrings. Similar to classical symphony works, the order of the films builds a crescendo to create awe-inspiring magic. The program's theme also references the location: SoundScape Park and the Frank Gehry-designed New World Center building have become a prime venue, offering the general public access to the great music that is performed inside.

Running time 52'30"

This double bill brings together two stunning works by Rita Ackermann and Christian Marclay.

Rita Ackermann, Movement as Monument, 2011, 22'30", Hauser & Wirth

In 'Movement as Monument', Hungarian-American artist Rita Ackermann films several laptop screens, creating a collage of disparate digital images ranging from an excerpt from Michael Gibson's controversial drama 'Apocalyptico' to images of flash mobs and a promotional video of a Michael Jackson record. This overload of information references French philosopher Paul Virilio's concept of the 'Information Bomb'.

Christian Marclay, Mixed Reviews (American Sign Language), 1999/2001, 30', Paula Cooper Gallery

'Mixed Reviews (American Sign Language)' is a silent film about music. It features a performer doing sign language interpretation of reviews of musical performances in which the authors employ written language to describe their auditory experiences.

Classical music and ballet serve as inspirations in this short film program that features a selection of poetic and visually compelling films. 10pm | Double Bill: Liliana Porter and Alfredo Jaar

Running time 59'

This double bill combines two aesthetically different works that both feature a powerful musical score.

Alfredo Jaar, Muxima, 2005, 36', Galerie Lelong, Goodman Gallery

'Muxima' is Chilean-born artist Alfredo Jaar's first film. Structured around recordings of the Angolan folk song 'Muxima' (meaning 'heart'), it is 'a cinematic elegy dedicated to the people of Angola' and a portrait of a complex and changing society.

Liliana Porter, Actualidades / Breaking News, 2016, 22'47", Sicardi Gallery

'Actualidades/Breaking News', the newest film by Argentinian artist Liliana Porter, imitates the structure of a newspaper. Like a newspaper's front page, the film opens with breaking news of a train accident, depicted using a model railroad. Porter uses vintage toys and dolls to illustrate each of the thirty segments, such as the classifieds or the arts & leisure section.

8.30pm | Maura Axelrod, Maurizio Cattelan: Be Right Back, 2016

Special Film Screening at Colony Theatre, 1040 Lincoln Road, Miami Beach

Running time 94'; selected by Marian Masone

This year's special screening features an original and highly entertaining portrait of the Italian artist Maurizio Cattelan. An art-world upstart, the provocative and elusive Cattelan launched his career with playful and subversive works that mocked the artistic establishment. A retrospective at the Guggenheim in 2011 confirmed his place in the contemporary art canon. New York-based director Maura Axelrod's equally playful profile leaves no stone unturned in trying to answer the question: who is Maurizio Cattelan?

10pm | Love Songs – Four Films by Wilhelm Sasnal

Running time 60'

Ranging from 2002 to 2015, this selection of films by Polish artist Wilhelm Sasnal emphasizes the artist's interest in the intersection of music, visual art and film. 'Untitled (Revolution), Love Songs and The River' all emphasize a symbiotic relationship between music, cinematography and painting. Citing influences from the aesthetics of musical subcultures and indie music videos to artist movements, Sasnal's early videos begin with a soundtrack to which he adds visual accompaniment to enhance the aural experience and inject abstract narrative. In contrast to these early works, Sasnal's 2015 work 'Developing Tank' uses film scoring to drive the narrative and fulfill the role of spoken words.

Wilhelm Sasnal, Love Songs, 2005, 10'02", Anton Kern Gallery
