The opening event for the “Chance Encounters III” exhibition, with works by Sara Flynn, Richard Smith and Lionel Wendt took place on December 5th at the LOEWE store in the Miami Design District during Miami Art Week. Notable guests including Aimee Song, Ana Kras, Candela Novembre, Caroline Vreeland, Chloe Weiss, Dev Hynes, Gala Gonzalez, Lauren De Gunzburg, Martha Graeff, Pari Ehsan, Sita Abellan, Stefano Tonchi, Sara Flynn and Harry Smith joined event host and LOEWE’s Creative Director, Jonathan Anderson, to celebrate the new exhibition.

The exhibition will run from 6th December to 4th February, 2018.

While working in different creative fields; diverse mediums of fabric sculpture, ceramic and photography and spanning the 1930s to the present day; shadows and the interplay of forms are the threads which tie together the works in this third exhibition, as well as an enduring focus on craftsmanship which is central to the ethos of the LOEWE FOUNDATION.

Jonathan Anderson said: “Art and craft are always at the center of my creative process and these exhibitions are an exciting way of exploring artists that are important to me. I love the unexpected things that happen when people from completely different worlds are brought together, the antagonism can create something completely new.”
